

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Which is not a recognised form of business continuity planning?
 - (a) Contingency planning
 - (b) Scenario planning
 - (c) Financial planning
 - (d) Building planning
2. Which of the following consumer buying behaviours requires the least effort?
 - (a) High involvement buying situation.
 - (b) New buying situation.
 - (c) Routine buying.
 - (d) Impulsive buying.
3. A method of marketing by electronic mail wherein the recipient of the message has consented to receive it is called:
 - (a) Search marketing.
 - (b) Internet advertising.
 - (c) Permission-based email marketing.
 - (d) Social web marketing.
4. According to Cutlip (2006), which stage of the communications plan should involve planning of what should be said and why?
 - (a) Situation analysis
 - (b) Strategy
 - (c) Implementation
 - (d) Evaluation involves assessing all aspects of the programme.
5. Specialisation is a feature of which organisational structure?
 - (a) Matrix
 - (b) Divisional
 - (c) Multi-divisional
 - (d) Functional

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: The discretionary factor is not a competing responsibility that influences corporate social responsibility.
7. True or False: Marketing communications involve developing messages that are understandable and actionable for target audiences.
8. True or False: Seebohm Rowntree was an industrial philanthropist known for his contributions to social reform and worker welfare.
9. True or False: Public relations is responsible for managing a company's image and addressing unfavorable stories or events.
10. True or False: Lateral communication in an organization occurs when information passes between different departments and functions.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Discuss the various types of research methods utilized in evaluation within business administration, and analyze why behavior study is not typically included in this context.
12. Discuss the concept of optimizing a website's structure and content to enhance its visibility in organic search engine results, emphasizing the role of relevant keywords and search phrases.

End of Paper