

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Which of the following best describes the human body's defense mechanism against environmental bacteria?
 - (a) Hair in the nose
 - (b) Mucous membranes
 - (c) Osteoblasts
 - (d) Saliva
2. Which of the following teenagers have the highest pregnancy rates?
 - (a) U.S.
 - (b) Canadian
 - (c) Swedish
 - (d) French
3. The total number of people who have some disorder divided by the total number of people gives you the _____ rate.
 - (a) Prevalence
 - (b) Incidence
 - (c) Incipient
 - (d) Diseased
4. You notice that your patient's submandibular lymph nodes are enlarged. You would look for potential infection sites in the
 - (a) hard palate.
 - (b) hard palate and upper lip.
 - (c) hard palate, upper lip and upper central incisor.
 - (d) hard palate, upper lip, upper central incisor and lower first molar.
5. When older adults move to a new state after retirement, which of the following is the more likely destination?
 - (a) Texas
 - (b) California
 - (c) Hawaii
 - (d) Vermont

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: Morning sickness is typically most problematic during the first trimester of pregnancy.
7. True or False: IUD use has been shown to significantly reduce the risk of pelvic inflammatory disease and related infections.
8. True or False: The supraorbital foramen, infraorbital foramen, and mental foramen can all be palpated in a live patient.
9. True or False: The epigastric region of the abdomen is located just distal to the sternum.
10. True or False: Hysterotomy is the most costly method of abortion and carries the greatest risk of complications.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Discuss the challenges in developing an effective vaccine for HIV, focusing on economic factors and their impact on research and accessibility.
12. Discuss the physiological relationship between anxiety, relaxation, and erectile function, using Keith's situation as a case study to illustrate your points.

End of Paper