

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Hobbes describes felicity as:
 - (a) the absence of desire.
 - (b) a state of constant dissatisfaction.
 - (c) a state of constant change.
 - (d) the absence of progress.
 - (e) a state of satisfaction with one's current state.
2. Ashford's article is meant to address a particular paralysis in the face of
 - (a) the daunting task of solving worldwide economic imbalance.
 - (b) the impossibility of meeting everyone's basic needs.
 - (c) having to give up so much of our own wealth in light of Singer's arguments.
 - (d) having to choose between addressing immediate harm and addressing structural injustice.
 - (e) reconciling conflict moral theories.
3. Craig says an actually infinite number of things _____.
 - (a) cannot exist
 - (b) can be physically observed
 - (c) can be counted one by one
 - (d) is a concept beyond human comprehension
 - (e) only exists in mathematics
4. Naturalists who concentrated on natural elements and processes are associated with which of the following?
 - (a) Mengzi
 - (b) Zoroastrianism
 - (c) Zen Buddhism
 - (d) Shintoism
 - (e) Vedic Philosophy
5. Lukianoff and Haidt argue that American colleges and universities now encourage
 - (a) emotional reasoning.
 - (b) critical reasoning.
 - (c) reflective reasoning.
 - (d) all of the above.

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: Sinnott-Armstrong mainly investigates the moral responsibilities of technological companies.
7. True or False: Baxter would likely argue that the policy is morally unproblematic since it does not adversely affect human beings.
8. True or False: According to Singer, the conclusions in 'All Animals Are Equal' stem primarily from the principal principle of moral consideration.
9. True or False: Gauthier argues that moral agreements that are equally favorable to all parties are desirable because they satisfy our desire for fairness.
10. True or False: The Ideal Moral Code theory posits that moral obligations are contingent upon individual interpretations of ethical rules.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Analyze the logical structure of the following statement: "Either England's importing beef is a sufficient condition for France's subsidizing agriculture, or China doesn't promote human rights when and only when South Africa supplies diamonds." How can this be symbolized in propositional logic, and what implications does this have for understanding conditional relationships in ethical discourse?
12. Discuss the concept of moral cosmopolitanism, analyzing the obligations it places on individuals to assist those in need and promote basic human rights.

End of Paper