

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Discuss some physiological changes that can occur as a result of meditation.
 - (a) Stabilization of blood sugar levels
 - (b) Increased alpha and theta brain waves, lowered metabolism and heart rate
 - (c) Heightened cortisol levels and stress response
 - (d) Enhanced sympathetic nervous system activity
 - (e) Decrease in blood oxygen levels
2. If you were hired by a large company to develop a new training program, your first step would probably be to conduct a:
 - (a) stakeholder analysis.
 - (b) needs analysis.
 - (c) market research.
 - (d) budget analysis.
 - (e) SWOT analysis.
3. Which of the following terms is the best synonym for test validity
 - (a) Dependability
 - (b) Authenticity
 - (c) Generality
 - (d) Reliability
 - (e) Stability
4. Describe the use of drugs in the treatment of anxiety.
 - (a) Stimulant medications are typically employed to reduce anxiety
 - (b) Antibiotics are used in the treatment of anxiety
 - (c) Antifungal drugs are used to treat anxiety disorders
 - (d) Anti-inflammatory drugs are the primary treatment for anxiety
 - (e) Hormone replacement therapy is utilized for managing anxiety
5. The body's stress response system:
 - (a) Can be permanently damaged if a person experiences a traumatic event
 - (b) Can mainly be regulated through prescribed selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors (SSRIs)

- (c) Only impacts physical health, not mental or emotional health
- (d) Is not linked to mental health disorders
- (e) Is fully developed and functional at birth, with no changes occurring in later life

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: Narrative therapy and systemic therapy are two major types of psychotherapy used to treat neuroses effectively.
7. True or False: The effects of LSD and the symptoms of schizophrenia are distinct and not identical.
8. True or False: Psychology is empirical, systematic, and employs measurement techniques to study behavior and mental processes.
9. True or False: Valence in expectancy theory refers to the worker's perceived ability to perform the task successfully.
10. True or False: A score of 50 on the Beck Depression Inventory-II indicates moderate depression.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Discuss the implications of a Type I error in statistical decision-making within psychological research, specifically focusing on the consequences of rejecting a true null hypothesis.
12. Discuss the role of chemotherapy in somatic therapy, including its theoretical foundations, applications, and potential impacts on patient outcomes.

End of Paper