

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Frank (1967) made the claim that 'underdeveloped' societies were:
 - (a) insufficiently involved in the international capitalist economy
 - (b) reluctant to surrender their traditional ways of life
 - (c) economically dependent on the wealthy countries that exploited them
 - (d) the 'metropolises' to which 'satellite' countries were attached
2. Pilcher (1999) identified soap operas as a 'feminine genre' of media because:
 - (a) most of the characters in soap operas are women
 - (b) they represent images of women as both domesticated and independent
 - (c) they alienate women and appeal to an audience of men
 - (d) female television producers are most likely to work in this area
3. Sreberny-Mohammadi (1996) argues that national cultures can resist American cultural domination of the media by:
 - (a) domesticating its content, including more 'home-produced' programmes
 - (b) controlling the distribution of imported products by banning satellite dishes
 - (c) creating 'reverse flows' of their own programmes back to imperial societies
 - (d) all of the above
4. The market model of state welfare is based on the principle of:
 - (a) individuals buying welfare privately, with some means-tested benefits
 - (b) regular benefit payments to men as earners of the 'family wage'
 - (c) a universalist system of welfare for all, regardless of income
 - (d) decommodifying social welfare through state provision
5. In modern societies, social status is typically measured by a person's:
 - (a) age
 - (b) income
 - (c) verbal fluency
 - (d) occupation

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: Ethnographic research produces qualitative data by uncovering rich, detailed accounts from an insider's perspective.
7. True or False: The Nation of Islam primarily appealed to African-Americans who felt marginalized within the broader American society.
8. True or False: Differential association theory posits that individuals learn deviant behavior through their relationships with peers.
9. True or False: The 'third age' of the life course is characterized by active non-work and independence following retirement.
10. True or False: Role-learning theory asserts that social roles are fixed and do not change over time through social interaction.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Discuss the implications of Berger and Luckmann's concept of reality as a socially constructed phenomenon, focusing on how individuals negotiate shared definitions and the consequences of this process for social understanding.
12. Discuss the implications of Warner's study on the 'colour line' in Natchez, focusing on how it reflects the social structure and beliefs regarding racial superiority in the American Deep South.

End of Paper